

IDEAS

GlobeSt.com™

MY ACCOUNT

SIGN OUT

NATIONAL | SAN DIEGO | MULTIFAMILY

Event Coverage

CMBS Is A Vital Part Of The CRE Finance Environment

FEBRUARY 24, 2017 | BY NATALIE DOLCE

SAN DIEGO—Speakers during the CMBS panel at MBA's CREF/Multifamily Housing Convention and Expo 2017 say educating brokers and borrowers is key to a healthy CMBS future.

PRINT

REPRINTS

The "CMBS—What You Need to Know" panel at MBA's CREF/Multifamily Housing Convention and Expo 2017.

SAN DIEGO—CMBS finance has had its difficulties over the past years, but it is a vital part of the commercial real estate finance environment. That is according to panelists on the "CMBS—What You Need to Know" panel at MBA's CREF/Multifamily Housing Convention and Expo 2017.

According to Patrick Sargent, partner at Alston & Bird LLP, about $95-billion of CMBS is due to come due. "And of that only 55% had debt yields of at least 9%," he explained.

In 2007, CMBS represented about 25% of all CRE origination that year and last year, it represented only 12.9% of origination, explained Sargent. "Over the past 4 years, for CMBS new origination, only 40% was from CMBS refinances, but the good news is that 60% of new borrowers are coming in, but the numbers also show that we also couldn't attract a lot of them back."

The concern for panelist Michael Heagerty, principal of Newmark Realty Capital Inc., is that CMBS has become a lender of last resort. "It has gotten to the point where many of our borrowers don't even want to see CMBS and often times, we push it."

MORE SAN DIEGO HEADLINES

- › What to Know About Casino Projects
- › GlobeSt.com Networks With San Diego CREW
- › GlobeSt.com Networks With San Diego CREW
- › Who's Buying Luxury Condos in Downtown SD?

FEATURED EVENTS

RealShare Orange County

August 24, 2017 | Costa Mesa, CA

Join Southern California's top owners, developers, investors, brokers & financiers as they discuss the topics that move the needle

Learn More

RealShare New York 2017

He continues that the borrowers then “get upset at our producers are putting in front of them because of their experiences, so for us, it is a little bleak.”

He explained that “these maturities are coming up in 2017 and a lot of it is front loaded in the first half of the year, so what happens to CMBS after that?” According to Heagerty, many of the best loans have been picked off with forwards.

Last year, Heagerty was happy with the year that Newmark had, and part of that is because the life insurance companies are building. “There is plenty of capital out there, and CMBS seems to be edged out.”

But what is important going forward? According to Heagerty, it is to work together to make CMBS a better alternative. “Life insurance companies can only have a certain percentage of their assets in commercial mortgages,” he said. “In our shop, a lot of it is about educating our brokers about the process. We want to be able to get as much information out there to translate that to your borrowers.”

Keep checking back with GlobeSt.com this week for more coverage from the MBA's CREF/Multifamily Housing Convention and Expo 2017.

Natalie Dolce ›

Natalie Dolce, national executive editor of GlobeSt.com, is responsible for working with editorial staff, freelancers and senior management to help plan the overarching vision that encompasses GlobeSt.com, including short-term and long-term goals for the website, how content integrates through the company's other product lines and the overall quality of content. Previously she served as editor of the West Coast region for GlobeSt.com and Real Estate Forum, and was responsible for coverage of news and information pertaining to that vital real estate region. Prior to moving out to the Southern California office, Natalie was Northeast bureau chief, covering New York City for GlobeSt. Dolce's background includes a stint at InStyle Magazine, and as managing editor with New York Press, an alternative weekly New York City paper. In her career, she has also covered a variety of beats for M magazine, Arthur Frommer's Budget Travel, FashionLedge.com, Co-Ed magazine and the Daily Orange newspaper. Dolce has also freelanced for a number of publications, including MSNBC.com and Museums New York magazine.

More articles by this author ›

CONTACT NATALIE DOLCE

October 12, 2017 | New York , NY

Join 400 of New York's top owners, developers, investors, brokers and financiers as they discuss the topics that move the needle.

Learn More ›

RealShare Apartments

October 18, 2017 | Los Angeles , CA

Join 1000+ of the industry's top owners, investors, developers, brokers & financiers at THE MULTIFAMILY EVENT OF THE YEAR!

Learn More ›

RELATED JOBS

PRESENTED BY SELECT LEADERS

Real Estate Analyst (Cordia Capital Management, LLC) El Segundo, CA 90245

Job summary this is an outstanding opportunity for a motivated and technically proficient financial analyst to work with a small boutique firm. this position will support the acquisitions and asset management teams and will also have frequent contact with the executive team. cordia is looking ...

Apply Now ›

Salesperson/Operations Manager (Stuart Dean Company, Inc.) Falls Church, VA 22041

Stuart dean is currently seeking an operations supervisor/salesperson for its southern virginia division (this position will be working remotely from the individual's home office). this position provides supervisory leadership for the operations and field services as well as being the sales...

Apply Now ›

Test Job (SelectLeaders, LLC) Chicago, IL

Test do not apply

Apply Now >

RESOURCES

How to Get Better Multifamily Financing by Going Green

PARTNER ENGINEERING AND SCIENCE, INC.

What you need to know about Multifamily Green Financing Programs

More Resources >

FEATURED CONTENT

Thought Leadership
Due Diligence: Never Assume You Know All the Facts

MAY 03, 2017
TUSTIN, CA—There are a multitude of intangibles that are taken into account when evaluating a property. GlobeSt.com speaks with Coreland Cos.’ Cheryl Todd about some of them and the common pitfalls of due diligence.

Apt. Rent Growth Slips Below Average

MAY 03, 2017
SANTA BARBARA, CA—With most new supply coming into the upscale Lifestyle segment, working-class Renter By Necessity properties are seeing faster rent growth, says Yardi Matrix.

Why Owner-Occupied Homes Have Higher Taxes

MAY 03, 2017
IRVINE, CA—Certain factors are causing the effective tax rate to be higher on owner-occupied residential properties than on investment properties. ATTOM Data’s Daren Blomquist weighs in with GlobeSt.com on what those factors are.

Situs Adds DC Advisory Firm

MAY 03, 2017
NEW YORK CITY and WASHINGTON, DC—The Collingwood Group’s senior management team has a deep bench in the residential and multifamily sectors, including former executives with FHA, HUD and the GSEs.

GlobeSt.com

Markets

Sectors

Real Estate Forum

Current Issue

- About Us
- Contact Us
- Contributors
- Advisory Board
- Thought Leaders
- RealShare Events
- eNewsletters
- Advertise
- Terms of Use

- National
- International
- Atlanta
- Austin
- Boston
- Chicago
- Dallas
- Houston
- Los Angeles

- Net Lease
- Multifamily
- Retail
- Student Housing
- Healthcare Real Estate
- Hotels
- Office
- Industrial

- Real Estate Forum
- Current Issue
- Digital Edition
- Issue Gallery
- Reprints
- Advertise
- Subscribe / Renew

Privacy PolicyAll Markets >

Copyright 2017 ALM Media Properties, LLC. All Rights Reserved. | About ALM | Contact ALM | Terms of Use | Privacy Policy

